You will automatically be enrolled in this first option if you do not purchase insurance via option 2 or upload proof of insurance via option 3, and you will see an additional monthly charge of $20 for Renters Protect. If you do not see this charge please contact the office. Otherwise No action is required!

Option 2: Need Renters Insurance?

We have a preferred relationship, which provides residents with special pricing and excellent coverage. To purchase a policy, please go to your resident portal, Click Here, or call (800) 945-5990.

r. NO SMOKING AND/OR MARIJUANA POLICY

1. DEFINITION: "Smoking" means the lighting of a cigar, cigarette or other tobacco product, or a non-tobacco product, or vaping product, or allowing such product to burn. This includes marijuana or any derivative thereof.
2. PROHIBITION: Tenant shall be prohibited from the consumption, display, production, processing, manufacture or sale of marijuana and marijuana accessories on or in his/her unit or anywhere in or on the property. This prohibition does not extend to the consumption of tobacco or marijuana, or derivatives thereof, by means other than smoking as provided in General Laws Chapter 94G, Section 2(d)(l), or successor provision of law.
3. NO SMOKING RULE: No Tenant shall smoke in his/her Unit or anywhere in or on the property. Tenant shall not allow his/her family members, occupants, invitees or guests to smoke in the Tenant's unit or anywhere on the property. Smoking shall be prohibited throughout the entire building and grounds, including but not limited to, inside all tenants' units, hallways, stairways, foyers, common rooms and facilities, decks, patios, exterior landings, front steps, entrance ways, rooftops, fire escapes, basements, storage areas, parking areas, driveways, walkways, lawns, gardens, adjoining grounds and building facilities.
4. COMPLIANCE: Tenant shall inform Tenant's guests of the no smoking rule. Tenant shall promptly give Landlord notice of any incident of smoking or migrating secondhand smoke.

5. DISCLAIMER: Tenant acknowledges the following: a) that the implementation and/or enforcement of the no smoking rule shall not make the Landlord a guarantor of Tenant's health; b) the implementation and/or enforcement of the no smoking rule shall not, in any way, change the warranty of habitability, the covenant of quiet enjoyment, or other duty of care owed to the Tenant; and c) that Landlord's ability to police, monitor, or enforce the no smoking rule is dependent in significant part on compliance by the Tenant. Landlord specifically disclaims any implied or express warranties that the building, common areas, or Tenant's premises will have any higher or improved air quality standards than any other rental property. Landlord cannot and does not warrant or promise that the unit or common areas will be free from secondhand smoke during implementation and enforcement efforts by Landlord or based on the migration of secondhand smoke originating from areas located off of the property.
16. FUTURE LANDLORD RULES: In the future the Landlord may be required to create new rules and regulations reasonably related to this agreement. They may include rules affecting the safety of the Resident and others in the building containing the Premises, rules for the orderliness and cleanliness of these facilities, and rules for the comfort and convenience of other residents. Provided that such rules do not materially alter any obligation under this agreement, Landlord shall either notify Resident of the creation of the new rules or regulations in writing or shall have them posted in a public location where it would be reasonable for Resident to be made aware of the new rules and regulations. Resident shall have the opportunity to object in writing within 30 days. Should Resident not object, the new rule will become effective beginning the upcoming rental period after 30 days notice has expired.
17. ENTRY AND INSPECTION: The Landlord will keep keys and/or access codes for the premises. The Landlord and his or her agents or designees shall be permitted to enter the Premises at reasonable times and upon reasonable notice to Resident for the purpose of inspecting the Premises; for the purpose of maintaining or repairing the Premises; to ensure compliance with any statute, code, or regulation; or for the purpose of showing the Premises to any real estate agent, appraiser, mortgagee, prospective buyer or prospective Resident or inspector/contractor for prospective buyer/Resident. Whenever permitted by law, the Landlord shall also be entitled to enter the Premises in the event of an emergency or if the Premises appear to have been abandoned by the Resident or pursuant to a court order. If the Landlord enters after abandonment, said entry will not relieve the Resident of their obligations under this agreement, and will be for the purpose of mitigating Resident's damages. Landlord will promptly notify Resident of any entry made without Resident's prior knowledge. The Resident shall not unreasonably deny access. Failure of Resident to allow access for any of the above stated reasons shall constitute ground to terminate this agreement.
18. SMOKE DETECTORS AND CARBON MONOXIDE ALARMS: Resident acknowledges that the smoke detectors and carbon monoxide alarm, if applicable, are in working order at the time of the execution of this agreement. Resident agrees not to tamper with smoke detectors and carbon monoxide alarm and to replace the batteries in such devices or allow the Landlord to replace the batteries when notified of the need for such scheduled maintenance. Resident will notify the Landlord promptly if any smoke detector is not operating properly, and Landlord will repair or replace it.

YOUR LIFE AND THE LIVES OF OTHERS DEPEND ON THIS.

19. BREACH AND TERMINATION OF AGREEMENT:

- b. More than two late payments in a single twelve-month period will be grounds for termination of the tenancy under this agreement for repeated late payment of rent by way of a Notice to Terminate Tenancy with thirty (30) days' written notice. This right of the landlord to terminate for late payment shall exist irrespective of prior acceptance of late payments. Acceptance of late payments does not waive the landlord's right to terminate on the aforementioned grounds, nor does it change the rent due day in any way.
- c. Notwithstanding other termination provisions of this agreement, if any of the Residents breach any term or provision of this agreement or provided false or misleading information on any rental application, or is declared bankrupt, or the Premises reasonably appear to be abandoned, the Landlord may terminate this agreement upon seven (7) days' written notice, the expiration of which the Resident's right to occupy under this agreement shall terminate.
- d. In case of any termination of this agreement or termination of the Resident's right to occupy under this agreement, by reason of breach, or non-payment by Resident, Resident will indemnify Landlord from and against any loss and damage sustained by reason of any termination caused by the default of, or the breach by, Resident. Landlord shall also be entitled to any and all other remedies provided by law. All rights and remedies are to be cumulative and not exclusive. Delay or failure of Landlord to commence legal proceedings shall not constitute a waiver of any right or remedy.
- e. Under no condition shall the Tenant's household be allowed to exceed the maximum number permitted by law, and in the event the Tenant's household does exceed said amount, this agreement shall be terminable by the Landlord upon seven (7) days' written notice.
- f. If the Resident engages in any illegal or unlawful activity, it is grounds for immediate termination.
- g. Delivery of keys to the Landlord or acceptance thereof shall not constitute agreement of the Landlord to terminate. Resident is required to properly surrender the unit/terminate their tenancy as described in paragraph 6 above.

20. MOLD/MILDEW. Residents acknowledge that it is necessary for Residents to provide appropriate climate control, keep the premises clean, and take other measures to prevent mold and mildew from accumulating in the premises. Residents agree to clean and dust the premises on a regular basis and to remove visible moisture accumulation on windows, walls and other surfaces as soon as reasonably possible. Residents agree to immediately report to Landlord: (i) any evidence of a water leak or excessive moisture in the premises, as well as in any storage room, garage or other common area; (ii) any evidence of mold- or mildew-like growth that cannot be removed by simply applying a common household cleaner and wiping the area; (iii) any failure or malfunction in the heating, ventilation or air conditioning systems in the premises; and (iv) any inoperable doors or windows. Residents further agree that Residents shall be responsible for damage to the Premises and Residents' property as well as injury to any Resident and/or Occupants resulting from Resident's failure to comply with the terms of this Paragraph.

21. UNIT RENDERED UNINHABITABLE; FIRE INSURANCE: If the premises are rendered substantially uninhabitable by fire or some other calamity or circumstance, or the building is taken by a unit of government by eminent domain or other process, this agreement will be automatically terminated. You are on notice that all multi-family residential properties are required to include an endorsement which provides coverage for relocation expenses of tenants up to a maximum amount of $750 per unit pursuant to M.G.L. ch. 175, § 99, Section 15A. Tenant should obtain Renter's Insurance to protect their personal property.

22. DELIVERY OF NOTICES:

- a. Routine notices from the Landlord to the Resident shall be delivered via email, text message, left on the Resident's door, or by mail.
- b. Routine notices from the Resident to the Landlord can be delivered via email, text message, or by mail. A notice can be left on the Resident's door only if the Resident makes prior arrangements for the Landlord to receive the notice there.
- c. Legal notices and service of process from the Landlord to the Resident shall be given in writing and delivered in hand to the Resident or an adult residing on the premises, by registered mail, return receipt requested to the property address, or any other manner authorized by law, including email if agreed or allowed.
- d. Legal notices and service of process from the Resident to the Landlord shall be given in writing and delivered in hand to the Landlord or the Landlord's agent by registered mail, return receipt requested to the address above, or any other manner authorized by law.

23. NON-WAIVER AND SEVERABILITY: Delay or failure of Landlord to act upon a breach of any of the agreements in this agreement shall in no way constitute a waiver of any right or remedy to act upon any other or future breach. If any provision of this agreement shall be determined by any court having jurisdiction to be invalid, illegal or unenforceable, the remainder of this agreement shall not be affected and remain enforceable. The applicable law governing this agreement shall be according to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

24. MONTHLY CREDIT REPORTING DISCLOSURE: This clause simply states that the landlord will be reporting the tenant's rental payments to credit reporting agencies (Equifax, Experian, and Transunion) monthly. It also reminds the tenant that timely payment of rent is important for maintaining a good credit score. If you believe your account is being reported inaccurately for any reason, you agree you will contact the Landlord in writing via email so it can be checked and corrected as needed.

25. INDEMNIFICATION AND INSURANCE: The Resident agrees to indemnify, defend and hold the Landlord harmless from all liability, loss or damage arising from any nuisance made or suffered on the premises by Resident, Resident's occupants, guests or invitees or other acquaintances, or any carelessness, neglect, or improper conduct of such persons. Subject to applicable law, unless caused by negligence of the Landlord, its agents or employees, Landlord shall not be liable for damage to or loss of property of any kind while on the premises or in any storage space in the building, nor for any personal injury. Resident agrees to obtain and maintain personal property and liability insurance with the following provisions/conditions,

1. Resident, at its sole cost and expense, shall at all times during the term of the Lease maintain general liability (GL Policy) coverage for the acts and omissions of Resident in the minimum amount of $100,000 (on a per occurrence basis). Resident may obtain the GL Policy from any qualified insurer.
2. The GL Policy shall list Landlord (Boulders NBM LLC) as an "Interested Party" or "Additional Interest" on the Declarations page of the GL Policy and provide that Landlord shall receive written notice no less than thirty (30) days prior to the expiration or termination of the GL Policy.
3. The GL Policy must extend coverage for negligent water damage Resident may cause to Resident's unit of possession.
4. In the event that Resident fails to obtain and maintain the GL Policy as required herein, Landlord shall have the right, to charge a non-compliance fee in the amount of $25 which shall be deemed to be additional rent under the Lease and immediately due payable by Resident to Landlord.
5. In the event that Resident is in default of this requirement at any time s/he agrees not to hold the property owner, management or employees liable for any damage to person or property.

The landlord's insurance policy does not cover Resident's contents in most circumstances.

26. VIOLATION OF LEASE AGREEMENT: If the Resident is in violation of any of the above terms, a three-step process will be followed. After the first offense, the Resident will be notified of the violation, verbally or in writing. After the second offense, the Resident will be charged a fine for the violation. After the third offense, the Resident will be evicted. The fine amounts are as follows:

- a. Garbage: For items left in the staircase, in the building, or in or around the common area there will be a fee of $75.00 per item.

Tenant Lead Law Notification

What lead paint forms must owners of rental homes give to new tenants?

Before renting a home built before 1978, the property owner and the new tenant must sign two copies of this Tenant Lead Law Notification and Tenant Certification Form, and the property owner must give the tenant one of the signed copies to keep. If any of the following forms exist for the unit, tenants must also be given a copy of them: lead inspection or risk assessment report, Letter of Compliance, or Letter of Interim Control. This form is for compliance with both Massachusetts and federal lead notification requirements.

What is lead poisoning and who is at risk of becoming lead poisoned?

Lead poisoning is a disease. It is most dangerous for children under six years old. It can cause permanent harm to young children's brain, kidneys, nervous system and red blood cells. Even at low levels, lead in children's bodies can slow growth and cause learning and behavior problems. Young children are more easily and more seriously poisoned than others, but older children and adults can become lead poisoned too. Lead in the body of a pregnant woman can hurt her baby before birth and cause problems with the pregnancy. Adults who become lead poisoned can have problems having children, and can have high blood pressure, stomach problems, nerve problems, memory problems and muscle and joint pain.

How do children and adults become lead poisoned?

Lead is often found in paint on the inside and outside of homes built before 1978. The lead paint in these homes causes almost all lead poisoning in young children. The main way children get lead poisoning is from swallowing lead paint dust and chips. Lead is so harmful that even a small amount can poison a child. Lead paint under layers of nonleaded paint can still poison children, especially when it is disturbed, such as through normal wear and tear and home repair work.

Lead paint dust and chips in the home most often come from peeling or chipping lead painted surfaces; lead paint on moving parts of windows or on window parts that are rubbed by moving parts; lead paint on surfaces that get bumped or walked on, such as floors, porches, stairs, and woodwork; and lead paint on surfaces that stick out which a child may be able to mouth such as window sills.

Most lead poisoning is caused by children's normal behavior of putting their hands or other things in their mouths. If their hands or these objects have touched lead dust, this may add lead to their bodies. A child can also get lead from other sources, such as soil and water, but these rarely cause lead poisoning by themselves. Lead can be found in soil near old, lead-painted homes. If children play in bare, leaded soil, or eat vegetables or fruits grown in such soil, or if leaded soil is tracked into the home from outside and gets on children's hands or toys, lead may enter their bodies. Most adult lead poisoning is caused by adults breathing in or swallowing lead dust at work, or, if they live in older homes with lead paint, through home repairs.

How can you find out if someone is lead poisoned?

Most people who are lead poisoned do not have any special symptoms. The only way to find out if a child or adult is lead poisoned is to have his or her blood tested. Children in Massachusetts must be tested at least once a year from the time they are between nine months and one year old until they are four years old. Your doctor, other health care provider or Board of Health can do this. A lead poisoned child will need medical care. A home with lead paint must be deleaded for a lead poisoned child to get well.

What kind of homes are more likely to have lead paint?

In 1978, the United States government banned lead from house paint. Lead paint can be found in all types of homes built before 1978: single-family and multi-family; homes in cities, suburbs or the countryside; private housing or state or federal public housing. The older the home, the more likely it is to have lead paint. The older the paint, the higher its lead content is likely to be.

Can regular home repairs cause lead poisoning?

There is a danger of lead poisoning any time painted surfaces inside or outside the home are scraped for repainting, or woodwork is stripped or removed, or windows or walls are removed. This is because lead paint is found in almost all Massachusetts homes built before 1978, and so many of Massachusetts' homes are old. Special care must be taken whenever home repair work is done. No one should use power sanders, open flame torches, or heat guns to remove lead paint, since these methods create a lot of lead dust and fumes. Ask the owner of your home if a lead inspection has been done. The inspection report will tell you which surfaces have lead paint and need extra care in setting up for repair work, doing the repairs, and cleaning up afterwards. Temporarily move your family (especially children and pregnant women) out of the home while home repair work is being done and cleaned up. If this is not possible, tape up plastic sheets to completely seal off the area where the work is going on. No one should do repair work in older homes without learning about safe ways to do the work to reduce the danger of lead dust. Hundreds of cases of childhood and adult lead poisoning happen each year from home repair work.

What can you do to prevent lead poisoning?

Talk to your child's doctor about lead.

Have your child tested for lead at least once a year until he/she is four years old.

Ask the owner if your home has been deleaded or call the state Childhood Lead Poisoning Prevention Program (CLPPP) at 1-800-532-9571 or www.mass.gov/dph/clppp. You can also check with your local Board of Health.

Tell the owner if you have a new baby, or if a new child under six years old lives with you.

If your home was deleaded, but has peeling paint, tell and write the owner. If he/she does not respond, call CLPPP or your local Board of Health.

Make sure only safe methods are used to paint or make repairs to your home, and to clean up afterwards.

If your home has not been deleaded, you can do some things to temporarily reduce the chances of your child becoming lead poisoned. You can clean your home regularly with paper towels and any household detergent and warm water to wipe up dust and loose paint chips. Rub hard to get rid of more lead. When you are done, put the dirty paper towels in a plastic bag and throw them out. The areas to clean most often are window wells, sills, and floors. Wash your child's hands often (especially before eating or sleeping) and wash your child's toys, bottles and pacifiers often. Make sure your child eats foods with lots of calcium and iron, and avoid foods and snacks that are high in fat. If you think your soil may have lead in it, have it tested. Use a door mat to help prevent dirt from getting into your home. Cover bare leaded dirt by planting grass or bushes, and use mats, bark mulch or other ground covers under swings and slides. Plant gardens away from old homes, or in pots using new soil. Remember, the only way to permanently lower the risk of your child getting lead poisoned is to have your home deleaded if it contains lead paint.

How do you find out where lead paint hazards may be in a home?

The only way to know for sure is to have a lead inspection or risk assessment done. The lead inspector will test the surfaces of your home and give the landlord and you a written report that tells you where there is lead in amounts that are a hazard by state law. For interim control, a temporary way to have your home made safe from lead hazards, a risk assessor does a lead inspection plus a risk assessment. During a risk assessment, the home is checked for the most serious lead hazards, which must be fixed right away. The risk assessor would give the landlord and you a written report of the areas with too much lead and the serious lead hazards. Lead inspectors and risk assessors have been trained, licensed by the Department of Public Health, and have experience using the state-approved methods for testing for lead paint. These methods are use of a sodium sulfide solution, a portable x-ray fluorescence machine or lab tests of paint samples. There is a list of licensed lead inspectors and risk assessors at www.mass.gov/cph/clppp.

In Massachusetts, what must the owner of a home built before 1978 do if a child under six years old lives there?

An owner of a home in Massachusetts built before 1978 must have the home inspected for lead if a child under six years old lives there. If lead hazards are found, the home must be deleaded or brought under interim control. Only a licensed deleader may do high-risk deleading work, such as removing lead paint or repairing chipping and peeling lead paint. You can get a list of licensed deleaders from the state Department of Labor and Workforce Development. Deleaders are trained to use safe methods to prepare to work, do the deleading, and clean up. Either a deleader, the owner or someone who works for the owner who is not a licensed deleader can do certain other deleading and interim control work. Owners and workers must have special training to perform the deleading tasks they may do. After the work is done, the lead inspector or risk assessor checks the home. He or she may take dust samples to test for lead, to make sure the home has been properly cleaned up. If everything is fine, he or she gives the owner a Letter of Compliance or Letter of Interim Control. After getting one of these letters, the owner must take care of the home and make sure there is no peeling paint.

What is a Letter of Compliance?

It is a legal letter under state law that says either that there are no lead paint hazards or that the home has been deleaded. The letter is signed and dated by a licensed lead inspector.

What is a Letter of Interim Control?

It is a legal letter under state law that says work necessary to make the home temporarily safe from serious lead hazards has been done. The letter is signed and dated by a licensed risk assessor. It is good for one year, but can be renewed for another year. The owner must fully delead the home and get a Letter of Compliance before the end of the second year.

Similarly, all smoke and CO detectors and fire alarms must be maintained in operating condition. Storage of flammable materials, especially flammable liquids, must be in accordance with the requirements of the Amherst Fire Chief. Violations of fire safety regulations can involve fines of from $50 to $1,000, depending on the offense.

Open Burning – All open burning requires obtaining a permit in advance from the Amherst Fire Chief. Violations can involve fines from $300 up to $500.

Rental Housing and Property Maintenance - Rental housing in Amherst is required to be registered with the Town and have a rental permit, and its operation is governed by local regulations and Massachusetts health, building and fire codes. State codes require the property owner to maintain the structure in a safe and sanitary condition. Residents are required to maintain the areas they occupy in a clean and sanitary condition. Failure to maintain the property can result in citations and fines. Health code violations may involve fines of up to $500.

General Bylaws or other Regulations

Snow & Ice Removal – Property owners are required to keep shared exterior stairways, fire escapes, and egress balconies free from ice and snow. Tenants may be responsible for clearing snow and ice from private (unshared) stairways or egress balconies, if their leases so requires. Property owners must remove snow and ice from adjacent sidewalks in the public ways within 24 hours of “the end of precipitation which caused the accumulation.” Failure to clear property may involve fines of up to $500, or, for clearing of public sidewalks, the Town may contract the work and bill the property owner.

Trash/Recycling – Under Amherst Board of Health regulations and the state health code, facilities for the storage of trash and recyclable materials must exist and be used in a responsible fashion, waste streams must be separated into refuse and recyclable materials, and arrangements for the regular removal of trash and recyclable materials must exist. Occupants are responsible for the use of such facilities. For rental properties containing three or more units, arrangements for the regular removal of trash and recyclable materials are required. Penalties for failure to provide facilities or for their misuse can range from $50 up to $500.

Grounds Upkeep – The state health code requires minimum standards of upkeep of the grounds of a rental property so that garbage, rubbish, and trash do not accumulate, and dangerous circumstances associated with the property are not allowed to persist. Penalties can range up to $500.

Junked Cars – State law and Amherst’s local regulations prohibit the keeping of junked, abandoned, disassembled or inoperable motor vehicles on any property. Violation can involve fines of $50 per offense.

Pets/Dependent Animals – State law and Amherst’s General By-Laws require that pets and other dependent animals (livestock, poultry, etc.) be kept in a manner that ensures both human health and the welfare of the animals involved. Dogs must be licensed. Violations can incur fines which range from $15 to $300.
